Ed Begley, Jr. co-chaired a party where Energy Vision, a NYC-based nonprofit, presented awards to two leaders in clean transportation fuels: Andrew J. Littlefair, the President and CEO of Clean Energy; and Russell K. Barnett, Director of Environment, Smithtown, NY.

The party celebrated Energy Vision's four years of success in supporting the shift of truck and bus fleets off oil and toward sustainable fuels of the future. The event, which took place at a historic townhouse in Greenwich Village, was catered by world-renowned Chef, Jean-Claude Lanchais. You may notice that Ed Begley Jr. has a fork in his coat pocket. He mentioned that he might need to use this fork again to eat more delicious appetizers no need to wash another utensil!
